

Jun Group Expands to West Coast; Names Miry Whitehill to Lead Social Video Efforts from New Los Angeles Office

Social video company Jun Group, also moves into new Midtown headquarters

NEW YORK – March 2, 2011 – Jun Group (www.jungroup.com), a premier social video company, today announced the company's expansion to the West Coast, opening an office in Los Angeles. The Los Angeles office of Jun Group will be led by Account Director Miry Whitehill.

Whitehill joins Jun Group from Feed Company, a leader for seeding videos on the Web for major brand advertisers in the U.S., where she also served as an account director. Whitehill's clients included Ford, Gillette, Kraft, Levi's, Pepsi, Taco Bell and Toyota. Previously, she was media & seeding manager at Tel Aviv-based Keta Keta, a viral advertising agency. Her clients at Keta Keta included LG, P&G and El Al, among others. Whitehill began her career at Redmatch, a software company also based in Israel.

"Miry brings a wealth of experience in digital video, video seeding and social media," said Mitchell Reichgut, founder and CEO of Jun Group. "She is the perfect person to lead our West Coast expansion. Miry will be responsible for initiating and growing new relationships, while contributing to the ongoing evolution of our social video products and services."

Whitehill received her bachelor's of science in marketing from the University of Maryland, College Park.

Jun Group's new Los Angeles office is located on the Sunset Strip in West Hollywood. Jun Group also recently moved its East Coast office into a penthouse duplex at 554 5th Avenue, between 45th and 46th Streets in New York City. The new Jun Group headquarters (Photos: <http://jungroup.tumblr.com>) is enclosed in glass with three rooftop decks and skylights throughout. The new office is in preparation for growth plans in 2011.
